Subject: COT REPORT

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARIAT

It is my understanding that the public has until August 21, 2006 to submit their input on the planned abolition of the COT reports. It is my opinion that in todays market with the large hedge funds, large commercial interests and the large private investment groups that the COT is about the only statistic left that is useful for the small personal investment public. I see no reason that would help the government or the small personal investor in doing away with this vital reporting information. I see every reason in the world why the other above named instituions would want to do away with this reporting. I can give you a thousand other reasons that the COT should be continued but I am sure you have read them all. I am very synical and I do believe government is run by big business and large donors so I guess it is "adios" to the COT. I hope I am wrong but we will see.
