Subject: question about 74 FR 31642 : 17 CFR Part 16 Account Ownership and Control Report

Dear,

My name is Cherry Zhang, I am a reseacher in future industry and have studied the CFTC regulation for some time.

I am personally in favor of the OCR report. The information of related accounts is both important to the market surveillance program and trade practice surveillance program. But, some details in the OCR report puzzled me. In page one footnote 2, it is said "Under the CFTC's large trader record format, special account numbers contain two elements:(1) a reporting firm ID and (2) a unique account number assigned by the reporting firm." I wonder the similarities and differences of the following three numbers: special account number, reporting number(which is in the Form 102), account number.

Billions of thanks!

Yours,
Cherry Zhang
