Dear Sirs:

Now retired from teaching high school Chemistry, I have followed the silver market for over 20 years, and as I said in a recent e-mail to the CFTC which I forwarded to you, crimes against Commodity Law have never been more pronounced.

I was astonished to learn that recently JPM Chase greatly increased its already outrageous, blatantly manipulative net short position in silver futures.

Please explain. It seems to me that you flout the new Financial Regulatory Reform Law.

Thank you,

Robert L. Taylor
