Dear Mrs. Maurya:

Thank you for forwarding your additional information regarding the company Swiss Mutual Fund. I have included the information in your file and forwarded it to the appropriate division. As you have been told before, the SEC's Office of Investor Education and Advocacy (OIEA) processes many complaints received from individual investors and others. We keep records of the correspondence we receive in a searchable database that SEC staff may make use of in inspections, examinations, and investigations. In addition, some correspondence received by OIEA is referred directly to other SEC offices and divisions for their review.

As you have been told before, the SEC conducts its investigations on a confidential and nonpublic basis and neither confirms nor denies the existence of an investigation unless the SEC brings charges against someone involved. We do this to protect the integrity and effectiveness of our investigative process and to preserve the privacy of the individuals and entities involved.

As a result, we will not be able to confirm whether an investigation exists or provide you with any future updates on the status of your complaint or of any pending SEC investigation. You may wish to check our website, www.sec.gov, for information about pending SEC civil actions, administrative cases, and other matters. Please do note that if an investigation or other Commission action is initiated, it is possible you will be contacted by SEC staff for additional information.

I've attached a flyer that describes our policy as it will apply to your complaint. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any other questions.

Dear Mrs. Maurya:

We are taking your complaint very seriously, and have referred it to the appropriate people within the SEC. I apologize for the delay in responding.

Please understand that the SEC conducts its investigations on a confidential basis and neither confirms nor denies the existence of an investigation unless we bring charges against someone involved. We do this to protect the integrity and effectiveness of our investigative process and to preserve the privacy of the individuals and entities involved. As a result, we will not be able to provide you with any future updates on the status of your complaint or of any pending SEC investigation.

Below is a flyer that describes our policy as it will apply to your complaint. Please contact me if you have other questions.

INFORMATION ABOUT SEC INVESTIGATIONS

Each year, thousands of investors ask the Securities and Exchange Commission to investigate the activities of other investors, financial professionals, corporations, brokerage firms, investment companies, stock exchanges, and others. These complaints generally suggest some impropriety or misconduct and sometimes make a plea to the SEC for direct assistance in resolving a grievance.

The SEC has the authority to investigate whether violations of the federal securities laws have occurred, and we make every effort to evaluate promptly and thoroughly the information provided by investors. But we cannot investigate every investor complaint. While many investor complaints do lead to full investigations and, if appropriate, to enforcement actions, we cannot guarantee that our review will lead to further investigation or that the SEC will take any legal action.

We also cannot provide you with updates on the status of your complaint or your request for an investigation. The SEC conducts investigations confidentially for two main reasons. First, we can conduct investigations more effectively if they are not announced publicly. For instance, important documents and evidence can be destroyed quickly if people hear of an investigation. Second, we keep our investigations confidential to protect the reputations of companies and individuals if we find no wrongdoing or decide we cannot bring a successful action against them. The SEC will not confirm or deny the existence of an investigation unless, and until, it becomes a matter of public record as the result of a court action or administrative proceeding.

When there is proof that someone has violated the securities laws, the sanctions may include financial penalties, orders to surrender profits, cease and desist orders, or an injunction by a court to prevent further violations. The SEC may also bar individuals from working for a securities firm, investment adviser, or investment company. We can also ask a federal court to bar individuals from being officers and directors of publicly held companies. In some situations, we may refer a case to the Department of Justice for possible criminal prosecution.

The SEC publishes news releases about its lawsuits and administrative actions, and the news media often report on them. You can read and download the SEC's Enforcement Actions on our website at www.sec.gov/divisions/enforce/enforceactions.shtml. Or you can obtain hard copies by reviewing How to Request Public Documents at:

Dear Mr. Maurya:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Upon further review of your complaint, I realize it falls outside of our jurisdiction.

The issue you raise -- your inability to receive funds from a FOREX account -- is not one over which the SEC has jurisdiction. As explained in greater detail on our website, www.sec.gov, the SEC administers and enforces the federal laws that govern the sale and trading of stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and other securities.

You may wish to report your concerns to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), which investigates and prosecutes fraud against CFTC-registered firms and their affiliates offering or selling foreign currency futures and options contracts. Contact information for the CFTC is as follows:

Commodity Futures Trading Commission
 Three Lafayette Centre
 1155 21st Street, NW
 Washington DC 20581
 CFTC Toll-Free Complaint Line: 866-366-2262
 Online Complaint Info: www.cftc.gov/customerprotection/redressandrepairs/index.htm.

The SEC's website also provides a general discussion of foreign currency trading, including a link to the CFTC's warning about foreign currency frauds. See www.sec.gov/answers/forcurr.htm.

I hope this information is helpful. Please contact the CFTC and not the SEC about this matter.

Bank is at liberty to refuse payment of cheques that have been altered in any way unless the alteration is authenticated under his signature. Cheques should be drawn in such a way as to prevent alteration after issue and the drawer's signature should be uniform with that on record at the Bank. It is essential that the cheque book be kept in a place of safety.

Bank will register instructions from the drawer regarding cheques lost, stolen, etc., but cannot guarantee depositors in such case in the event of such a cheque being paid.

The smallest sum that can be accepted at the time of opening a savings bank account is Rs. 20 and thereafter no deposit for less than Rs. 1 will be accepted thereon. A savings bank account the balance of which falls below Rs. 20 may be closed at the Bank's discretion. In case of savings bank accounts where the facility of withdrawal by cheque is permitted a minimum balance of Rs. 250 shall always be maintained in the account.

Rule 33 - A savings bank account holder will not be permitted more than 50 debits on his account in a half-year. The debits will include all types of debits i.e. by cheques, transfers, letters, standing instructions or in any other manner. For accounts opened after the commencement of a half-year the number of permissible withdrawals will be calculated pro rata. In the case of a cheque, the date of payment, and not the date of cheque, will be taken as the date of withdrawal for the purpose.

Rule 34 - A depositor cannot withdraw a smaller sum than one rupee, nor any sum which is not a multiple of Rs. 1 unless it be to close the account in which case the entire balance at credit of the account will be withdrawn. In the case of a withdrawal by cheque, however, amounts need not be multiples of one rupee. No cheque should be drawn for amounts above Rs. 5,000/- and below Rs. 20/- A depositor desiring to withdraw an amount larger than Rs. 5,000/- may do so by using a withdrawal order form.

INTEREST

Rule 37 - The current rate of interest allowed on deposits in savings bank accounts can be ascertained at the Bank. Any change in this rate, which is governed by the directives of the Reserve Bank of India, is notified through advertisement in the newspapers.

Dear Gyanwati,

We have already replied your emails several times to inform you that you are not eligible for payment. This is because your investment was transacted after 21 June 2007 (subsequently extended to 7 July 2007) which is one of the eligible criteria approved by the Court. Please note that we do not have any information on your latest findings and your communication with US SEC. We regret we are unable to assist you further.
