

Toni Hagan

I listened to the April 22 Agricultural Forum and I am outraged. This has to stop. These hedge funds and pension money managers are distorting the real cost of supply and demand without having to buy a bushel of anything. This activity is killing the economy, people worldwide are starving, and gas prices are unreal. No one in America buying the thin excuses given for the cost of oil rising from $25 dollars to over $100. It is clear that price should reflect actual cost of supply and demand.