Exemption from Certain Part 4 Requirements for Commodity Pool Operators With Respect to Offerings to Qualified Eligible Persons and for Commodity Trading Advisors With Respect to Advising Qualified Eligible Persons AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“Commission”) is revising Commission Rule 4.7 (“Revision”) through both substantive and technical revisions. Rule 4.7 provides a simplified regulatory framework for commodity pool operators (“CPOs”) and commodity trading advisors (“CTAs”) directing or guiding the commodity interest trading accounts of certain highly accredited pool participants and for commodity trading advisors directing or guiding the commodity interest trading accounts of certain highly accredited clients. The substantive revisions will make Rule 4.7 available to more CPOs and CTAs and under more situations, by bringing within the scope of the rule additional persons. They add, among others, the following persons to the qualified eligible person definition:

Principal of certain registered investment professionals who themselves are defined as qualified eligible persons; certain registered securities investment advisers and their principals; “qualified purchasers” and “knowledgeable employees” as those terms are defined under the federal securities laws; certain employees and agents of CPOs and CTAs and certain of those employees’ and agents’ immediate family members; and trusts whose advisors and settlers are qualified eligible persons.

In addition, these revisions make it easier for certain charitable organizations, trusts and collective investment vehicles to be qualified eligible persons, and it includes persons who are not “United States persons” in the qualified eligible person definition with respect to both Rule 4.7 exempt pools and exempt accounts.

Certain of those revisions, i.e., those which reorganize the rule, will facilitate employment of the rule. Other technical revisions conform the nomenclature of the text of Rule 4.7 to reflect the revised structure of the rule. The Commission has made similar conforming revisions to Rules 30.6(b), 140.99(i)(A) and 180.3(b)(2)(vi), which prior to these revisions referred to, e.g., “qualified eligible participants” in their text.

In light of the breadth of the revisions to Rule 4.7, the Commission is including at Part IV of this release a derivation table that indicates where the provisions of the former rule can be found in the revised rule and a derivation table that indicates where the provisions of the revised rule can be found in the former rule.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Introduction

A. Background

In 1992, the Commission adopted Rule 4.7 as part of the Commission’s ongoing program for review of its rules. Rule 4.7 provides an exemption from certain disclosure, reporting and recordkeeping requirements for registered CPOs in connection with their operation of commodity pools whose participants meet specified eligibility criteria. The exemption provides relief from all of the specific disclosures required by Rules 4.21 and 4.24 through 4.26 and streamlines the reporting and recordkeeping requirements of Rules 4.22 and 4.23, respectively. Rule 4.7 provides similar relief from the specific disclosure requirements of Rules 4.31 and 4.34 through 4.36 and recordkeeping requirements of Rule 4.33 to registered CTAs who direct or guide the commodity interest trading accounts of clients who meet specified eligibility criteria.

Subsequent to the adoption of Rule 4.7, and consistent with the purposes of the rule, Commission staff permitted various CPOs and CTAs to claim relief under the rule with respect to certain persons who did not meet the specified eligibility criteria of the rule. In addition, in 1996, Congress enacted the National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996 (“NSMIA”). Among other things, NSMIA added Section 3(c)(7) to the ICA thereby providing an additional exemption from the definition of the term “investment company” under the ICA with respect to funds comprised exclusively of qualified purchasers (“QPs”). NSMIA also directed the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) to promulgate rules that would permit ownership by knowledgeable employees respect to the exempt pool and any other pool the CPO operates or intends to operate. Former Rule 4.7(a)(4); Revised Rule 4.7(d)(4)(ii). For example, it remains subject to the antifraud provisions of Sections 4b and 4o of the Act, 7 U.S.C. 6b and 6o (1994), the prohibited activities and advertising provisions applicable to CPOs in Rules 4.20 and 4.41, respectively, and the reporting requirements for traders set forth in Parts 15, 18 and 19 of the Commission’s regulations. Moreover, if a CPO distributes an offering memorandum in connection with soliciting participations in an exempt pool, the memorandum must include all disclosures necessary to make the information contained therein, in the context in which it is furnished, not misleading. Former Rule 4.7(a)(2)(ii)(A); Revised Rule 4.7(b)(1)(ii).

As also stated above, these persons formerly were termed “qualified eligible clients.” As a result of the Revision, they, too, are termed “qualified eligible persons.”

Under Rule 4.7, a CTA that has claimed Rule 4.7 relief with respect to a qualified eligible person likewise remains subject to all other applicable requirements of the Act and the Commission’s regulations with respect to the qualified eligible person and any other client to which the CTA provides or intends to provide commodity interest trading advice. Former Rule 4.7(b)(4); Revised Rule 4.7(d)(4)(ii). Similarly, if a CTA delivers a brochure or other disclosure statement to qualified eligible persons, the brochure or statement must include all disclosures necessary to make the information contained therein, in the context in which it is furnished, not misleading. Former Rule 4.7(b)(2)(ii)(A); Revised Rule 4.7(c)(1)(i).

These amendments were necessary to conform certain of the references in Rule 4.7 to other Part 4 rules the Commission had amended in scattered sections of 15 U.S.C. Many collective investment vehicles trade both securities and commodity interests, and absent an exemption, they are subject to registration as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “ICA”) and their operators are subject to registration as a CPO under the Act. See, e.g., Peavey Commodity Futures Funds I, II, III (1983–1984 Transfer Binder) Fed. Sec. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶77,511 (June 2, 1983).

of the securities of the issuer (or affiliate) without loss of the issuer’s definitional exemption under Section 3(c)(1)8 or 3(c)(7) of the ICA. In 1997, the SEC adopted Rule 3c–5 under the ICA,9 which defines the term “knowledgeable employee.”

Based upon staff’s experience in administering Rule 4.7 and taking into account these recent developments in the federal securities laws, on March 2, 2000 the Commission published for comment in the Federal Register proposed revisions to Rule 4.7 (the “Proposal”).10 Review of the proposed revisions were substantive in nature—i.e., they would expand the definitions employed in Rule 4.7, which would have the effect of permitting registered CPOs and CTAs to claim relief in additional circumstances under the rule.
In proposing this action, the Commission noted that it had been guided by the purposes of Rule 4.7. With respect to CPOs, these purposes are to: (1) Reduce unnecessary regulatory burdens with respect to persons who do not need the full protections of the Part 4 framework; and (2) coordinate the Commission’s rules with certain federal securities laws.11 As for CTAs, the rationale for relief “is analogous to that for * * * CPOs, i.e., that [qualified eligible persons] are sophisticated investors who have the financial ability and experience necessary to understand the risks of futures trading and to obtain the information they require.”

B. The Comments

The Commission received six comment letters on the Proposal: one from a firm registered as a futures commission merchant, CPO and CTA; one from a firm registered as a CPO; one from a designated self-regulatory organization; one from a bar association; one from a member of the commodities bar; and one from a trade association representing CPOs and CTAs.12 All of the persons who commented on the proposed revisions to Rule 4.7 expressed strong support for the Proposal. Among the reasons commenters provided for their support were that the Proposal: (1) Would coordinate and harmonize the commodities and securities laws where they have a common purpose; (2) would relieve Commission staff from expending its resources on what have become routine and redundant Rule 4.7 letters; (3) would provide similar relief to the applicants for those letters; and
(4) would make the rules more “user friendly.”

In light of the comments received, the Commission generally has adopted the revisions to Rule 4.7 that it proposed.13 In addition, the Commission has further reorganized the rule and has included more persons in the qualified eligible type definition. Each of the changes from the Proposal is discussed below, and distribution and derivation tables are provided at Section IV below.

In the Federal Register release announcing the Proposal (“Proposing Release”), the Commission gave a detailed explanation of each revision it had proposed to make to Rule 4.7.14 The scope of this Federal Register release generally is restricted to the comments received on the Proposal and changes to the Proposal that the Commission has made in response thereto. Accordingly, the Commission encourages interested persons to read the Proposing Release for a discussion of the purpose of each of the revisions the Commission proposed to make to the various provisions under Rule 4.7.

II. Responses to the Comments Received

A. Reorganization of Rule 4.7

The Commission proposed to reorganize Rule 4.7 to assist CPOs and CTAs in determining the availability of the rule to them. This proposed reorganization would have put all of the definitions used in Rule 4.7 in one place, proposed paragraph (a) of the rule.15 In particular, proposed paragraph (a)(1) would have contained the general definitions used throughout Rule 4.7.16 One of those definitions was the term “Portfolio Requirement” in proposed paragraph (a)(1)(v).17 One of the commenters questioned the need for two separate definitions of the term “Portfolio Requirement” (one for QEPs and one for QECs) because, as it noted, these definitions were virtually identical except for those references where the definition applicable to QEPs called “pool participants” and “exempt pool” and the definition applicable to QECs concerned “clients” and “exempt accounts.” Accordingly, the commenter recommended that the Commission should merge the two “Portfolio Requirement” definitions into one definition. The Commission believes this is a useful recommendation, and it has thus adopted in Rule 4.7(a)(1)(v) a single definition of “Portfolio Requirement” that equally applies to pool participants and exempt pools and to clients and exempt accounts.

In furtherance of this comment, the Commission additionally has streamlined other definitions used in Rule 4.7, such that now the rule solely refers to “qualified eligible persons.”
Under both the former rule and the Proposal, persons for whom a CPO or CTA could claim relief under Rule 4.7 were termed QEPs and QECs, respectively, and the criteria each such person had to satisfy was separately set forth depending on whether the person had to meet the Portfolio Requirement.
Thus, under proposed Rule 4.7(a)(2), two categories of persons were defined as QEPs (persons who were QEPs irrespective of the Portfolio Requirement and persons who were required to satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be QEPs) and under proposed Rule 4.7(a)(3) two categories of persons were defined as QECs (persons who were QECs irrespective of the Portfolio Requirement and persons who were required to satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be QECs). This 11 65 FR 11253.

13 57 FR at 3151.
14 Not all of the comments, however, were directly related to the Proposal. One comment recommended adoption of a uniform “sophisticated customer definition” for various of the Commission’s rules (i.e., Rules 1.3, 1.55, 4.7, 35.1 and 46.1); another comment recommended adoption of an exemption from CPO registration for operators of privately-offered collective investment vehicles limited solely to Non-United States persons; and yet another comment recommended adoption of an exclusion from the CPO definition for a collective investment vehicle using commodity interests solely for recognized risk management purposes. Inasmuch as these made for a total of four eligibility categories under Rule 4.7. By employing solely the term “qualified eligible person” in Rule 4.7, the Commission has reduced to two from four the categories of persons defined under the rule: Persons who do not need to satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be qualified eligible persons (Rule 4.7(a)(2)) and persons who do need to satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be qualified eligible persons (Rule 4.7(a)(3)).

The Commission additionally has streamlined Rule 4.7 by combining at one place, Rule 4.7(d), text applicable to the notice of claim for exemption that must be made to claim the relief available under Rule 4.7. Under both the former rule and the Proposal, text applicable to this notice was included at two places in Rule 4.7: After the relief that CPOs could claim and after the relief that CTAs could claim. Inasmuch as this text was virtually identical at both places, the Commission has combined it into one location, Rule 4.7(d).

Finally, to assist CPOs and CTAs in their reading and application of Rule 4.7, the Commission has adopted introductory text to the rule, which explains the organization of Rule 4.7 as follows: Paragraph (a) contains definitions for the purposes of Rule 4.7; paragraph (b) contains the relief available to CPOs under Rule 4.7; paragraph (c) contains the relief available to CTAs under Rule 4.7; paragraph (d) concerns the Notice of Claim for Exemption under Rule 4.7; and paragraph (e) concerns insignificant deviations from a term, condition or requirement of Rule 4.7.

B. Clarification of the Term “Non-United States Person”

Under the Proposal, the term “Non-United States person” would have been defined at proposed Rule 4.7(a)(1)(iv). Similar to the definition of the term “Portfolio Requirement,” the Commission did not propose to change the definition, but, rather, it proposed to change its placement within the rule and to replace with the term “Non-United States person” the former reference in the rule to “a person that is not a United States person.”

Under the Proposal, a Non-United States person would have been defined to include, among other persons:

(D) An entity organized principally for passive investment such as a pool, investment company or other similar entity; Provided. That units of participation in the entity held by persons who do not qualify as Non-United States persons represent in the aggregate less than 10% of the beneficial interest in the entity, and that such entity was not formed principally for the purpose of facilitating investment by persons who do not qualify as Non-United States persons in a pool with respect to which the operator is exempt from certain requirements of Part 4 of the Commission’s regulations by virtue of its participants being Non-United States persons.

One of the commenters stated that it was unclear as to how, if at all, persons who did not qualify as Non-United States persons but who otherwise were QEPs should be counted for purposes of the 10% limitation of this definition. This commenter contended that they should not be counted because they were, after all, QEPs in their own right. The Commission agrees with this commenter, and has revised the rule accordingly. Thus, as adopted, the ownership limitation of Rule 4.7(a)(1)(iv)(D) provides that “units of participation in the entity held by persons who do not qualify as Non-United States persons or otherwise as qualified eligible persons represent in the aggregate less than 10% of the beneficial interest in the entity” (emphasis added).

C. The Reasonable Belief Standard

Because of the organization of the former rule, CPOs and CTAs were required to have a “reasonable belief” that certain persons defined in Rule 4.7 as QEPs and QECs, respectively, were, in fact, QEPs and QECs. Under the proposed reorganization of the rule, CPOs and CTAs would have been required to have a “reasonable belief” that all persons defined as QEPs and QECs, respectively, were, in fact, QEPs and QECs. While the Commission stated that it did not believe that this should impose any additional burdens on CPOs and CTAs, it nonetheless requested comment on the proposed revision.

The three persons who commented on this proposed revision stated that they had no objection to it. And, in response to one of those commenters, the Commission is clarifying that CPOs and CTAs have latitude in determining how to obtain a “reasonable belief”—e.g., whether by statements from the prospective participant or client, its agent, or other similar means. Of course, what will establish a “reasonable belief” will depend on the facts of each particular case.

D. Transferees of Insiders, Agents Engaged by Insiders, and the Family Members of Insiders as Qualified Eligible Persons

1. Transferees of Insiders as Qualified Eligible Persons

Under the Proposal, the QEP definition would have been expanded in proposed Rule 4.7(a)(2)(i)(H) to include, in addition to the CPO or the CTA of the exempt pool, the following persons: the investment adviser of the exempt pool; an affiliate of the exempt pool, CPO, CTA or investment adviser; a principal of these persons; certain employees of these persons; and certain family members of these persons.

Similarly, the QEC definition would have been expanded in proposed Rule 4.7(a)(3)(i)(B) to include the following persons: an affiliate of the CTA of the exempt account; a principal of the CTA or the affiliate; certain employees of these persons; and certain family members of these persons. For the purposes of the discussion below, all of the foregoing persons collectively are referred to as “Insiders.”

The Commission has adopted as proposed the provisions that would define each of the Insiders as a qualified eligible person. Further, in response to the comments received, the Commission

20 See generally 65 FR at 11256–61 for persons who were proposed to be QEPs and QECs irrespective of the Portfolio Requirement and 65 FR at 11261–62 for persons who were proposed to be QEPs and QECs if they satisfied the Portfolio Requirement.

21 As proposed, the Commission employed the phrase “persons who are QEPs or QECs irrespective of the Portfolio Requirement.” As adopted, the Commission is employing the phrase “persons who do not need to satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be qualifying eligible persons.” This phrase is consistent with the other phrase employed for eligibility status under Rule 4.7 applicable to “persons who must satisfy the Portfolio Requirement to be qualified eligible persons.”

22 As a result of this reorganization, Rule 4.7(a)(3)(xi) now defines a qualified eligible person as: A pool, trust, insurance company separate account or bank collective trust, with total assets in excess of $5,000,000, not formed for the specific purpose of either participating in the exempt pool or opening an exempt account, and whose participation in the exempt pool or investment in the exempt account is directed by a qualified eligible person (emphasis added.)

Former Rule 4.7 included pools within the applicable QEP definition but it did not include pools within the applicable QEC definition. The Commission stated that this difference in definitions was “to ensure that pools generally, that is, pools whose participants are not all QEPs, continue to receive a Disclosure Document from their CTAs.” 57 FR at 34856. Upon reconsideration, the Commission is now of the view that all pools which meet the criteria of Rule 4.7(a)(3)(xi) should be defined as qualified eligible persons. With respect to exempt accounts in particular, this is because investment by a pool in an exempt account must be directed by a qualified eligible person—who, as the CPO of the pool and on behalf of the participants in the pool, will direct the investment in the exempt account.
has included certain other persons as qualified eligible persons and has expanded from the Proposal the availability of the qualified eligible person definition to certain family members of Insiders.

For example, one of the commenters on the proposed addition of Insiders to the QEP and QEC definitions suggested that the Commission include in Rule 4.7 a provision allowing transfers of interests in a Rule 4.7 exempt pool or exempt account from Insiders to other persons by gift or bequest. This commenter stated that support for including such a provision is found in rules under the ICA,27 which permit transfers of interests in a Section 3(c)(1) or 3(c)(7) fund from a knowledgeable employee or QP to another person under specified situations. The Commission agrees with this suggestion and has adopted it in Rule 4.7(a)(2)(viii), which provides that a qualified eligible person includes the following: (1) Any person who acquires a participation in the exempt pool or an interest in the exempt account by gift, bequest or pursuant to an agreement relating to a legal separation or divorce from an Insider; (2) the estate of an Insider; or (3) a company established by an Insider exclusively for the benefit of (or owned exclusively by) the Insider and any other permitted transferee. This language generally follows the provisions of Rule 3c–6(b) under the ICA, which applies to transfers of interests in Section 3(c)(1) and (3)(c)(7) funds.

2. Agents Engaged by Insiders as Qualified Eligible Persons

Proposed Rule 4.7(a)(2)(i)(H)(4) would have included within the QEP definition certain employees of the exempt pool, CPO, CTA, investment adviser of the exempt pool, or affiliate thereof, and proposed Rule 4.7(a)(3)(i)(B)(4) would have included within the QEC definition certain employees of the CTA of the exempt account or of an affiliate of the CTA, provided that the employee: (1) was an accredited investor as defined in Rule 501(a)(5) or (a)(6) under the Securities Act of 1933,29 ("accredited investor"); and (2) had been employed by any of the foregoing persons, or by another person engaged in providing commodity interest, securities or other financial services, for at least 24 months. As the Commission explained, the purpose of these rules was in furtherance of the intent of Rule 4.7: to reduce unnecessary regulatory prescriptions for CPOs and CTAs with respect to persons who do not appear to need the full protections offered by the Part 4 framework.30 The Commission has adopted this proposed definition and, in response to a comment received, has additionally included certain agents as qualified eligible persons under this rule.

One of the commenters on the Proposal suggested that the Commission consider including as QEPs and QECs certain attorneys and other persons similarly engaged whose activities and degree of sophistication would merit their being treated as QEPs and QECs. The Commission agrees with this comment and has incorporated it in Rule 4.7. Specifically, Rule 4.7(a)(2)(viii)(A)(4) defines a qualified eligible person with respect to an exempt pool as "any other employee of, or an agent engaged to perform legal, accounting, auditing or other financial services for," the exempt pool or the CPO, CTA or investment adviser of the exempt pool, or for an affiliate of any of the foregoing, provided that the employee or agent: (1) is an Accredited Investor; and (2) has been engaged by the exempt pool, CPO, CTA, investment adviser or affiliate, or by another person engaged in providing commodity interest, securities or other financial services, for at least 24 months. Similarly, Rule 4.7(a)(2)(viii)(B)(4) defines a qualified eligible person with respect to an exempt account as "any other employee of, or an agent engaged to perform legal, accounting, auditing or other financial services for," the CTA of the exempt account or of an affiliate of the CTA, provided that the employee or agent: (1) is an Accredited Investor; and (2) has been engaged by the CTA or the affiliate, or by another person engaged in providing commodity interest, securities or other financial services, for at least 24 months. Consistent with the treatment of employees under Rule 4.7, this definition excludes agents who perform solely clerical, secretarial or administrative functions.

3. Restriction on Family Members of Insiders Being Qualified Eligible Persons

Proposed Rule 4.7(a)(2)(i)(H)(5) would have included in the QEP definition the spouse, child, sibling or parent of an Insider, provided that an investment in the exempt pool by any such family member was made with the knowledge and at the direction of the Insider.31 Proposed Rule 4.7(a)(3)(i)(B)(5) similarly would have included in the QEC definition the spouse, child, sibling or parent of an Insider, provided that the establishment of an exempt account by any such family member was made with the knowledge and at the direction of the trading advisor.32 The Commission received no comments on these criteria and, accordingly, has adopted them as proposed in Rules 4.7(a)(2)(viii)(A)(5)(i) with respect to exempt pools and 4.7(a)(2)(viii)(B)(5)(i) with respect to exempt accounts.

The proposed rules also would have strictly limited the application of the QEP and QEC definitions, such that these family members would not have been QEPs or QECs for any other purposes of Rule 4.7—e.g., for the purpose of being a QEP settlor of a trust under proposed Rule 4.7(a)(2)(i)(I). The commenter on this proposed criterion stated that it was unnecessarily opaque, and urged the Commission to treat these family members as QEPs and QECs for all purposes of Rule 4.7. Upon further reflection, the Commission agrees that the proposed limitation may have been overly broad where the source of funds used for participating in an exempt pool or investing in an exempt account was one of the specified family members. Accordingly, Rules 4.7(a)(2)(viii)(A)(5)(ii) with respect to exempt pools and (a)(2)(viii)(B)(5)(ii) with respect to exempt accounts provide that these family members are qualified eligible persons except for the purposes of paragraph (a)(3)(xi) of the rule. That paragraph provides that certain collective investment vehicles, such as a pool, are qualified eligible persons if, among other things, they satisfy the Portfolio Requirement, have in excess of $5,000,000 in total assets and their “participation in the exempt pool or investment in the exempt account is directed by a qualified eligible person.” Because the source of funds in a collective investment vehicle such as a pool will always be either in addition to or other than from the family member, the Commission has provided that the family member is not a qualified eligible person for the purposes of Rule 4.7(a)(3)(xi).

E. Non-United States Persons as Qualified Eligible Persons for the Purpose of Opening an Exempt Account With a CTA

Proposed Rule 4.7(a)(3)(i)(A)(2) would have defined Non-United States persons as QECs, provided that the CTA who sought to direct or guide the commodity interest trading account of the Non-United States person: (1) Provided

\[27\text{17 CFR 270.3c-5 and 3c-6 (1999).}\]
\[28\text{17 CFR 230.501(a)(5) or (a)(6)(1999).}\]
\[29\text{Id.}\]
\[30\text{Id.}\]
\[31\text{Id.}\]
commodity interest trading advice exclusively to persons who were QECs (including persons who were Non-United States persons); and (2) had filed a notice of claim for exemption under Rule 4.7. In the Proposing Release, the Commission noted that a CTA who directs or guides the accounts of United States persons who are not QECs would be subject to the Disclosure Document requirements of Rules 4.31, 4.34, 4.35 and 4.36 and the recordkeeping requirements of Rule 4.33. Accordingly, the Commission reasoned that requiring the CTA to comply with requirements to which it already would be subject would not impose any additional burden on the CTA with respect to clients who are Non-United States persons.\(^3^{2}\)

Four persons commented on this proposed provision. While they generally expressed support for expanding the QEC definition to include Non-United States persons, they objected to the proposed limitation on permitting CTAs to claim relief under Rule 4.7 where the CTA has both United States and Non-United States persons as clients. Commenters disagreed with the Commission’s argument that this framework would not impose any additional burdens on these CTAs because they would already be subject to disclosure and recordkeeping requirements with regard to their (other) Non-QEC clients. One of these commenters further stated that while this may be true where the trading programs and solicitation documents are substantially the same, this frequently would impose a significant burden on CTAs where the trading programs and solicitation documents are different—thereby requiring significant additional work for the CTA in what is likely to be a very different context. In support of permitting CTAs to treat Non-United States persons as QECs without limitation, commenters noted that a CTA soliciting Non-United States persons is subject to the requirements of applicable foreign law, including any mandatory disclosure requirements. On the whole, then, the commenters on this proposed provision saw no reason why the Commission should treat Non-United States persons differently for the purpose of participating in an exempt pool or opening an exempt account.

Based upon the comments received, and in light of the increasing globalization of the futures markets and competitiveness concerns, the Commission has decided not to adopt the proposed limitation. Thus, Rule 4.7(a)(2)(xi) defines a Non-United States person as a qualified eligible person, without regard to whether the Non-United States person is seeking to participate in an exempt pool or to open an exempt account.\(^3^{3}\)

III. QPs and Knowledgeable Employees as Qualified Eligible Persons

By the Proposal the Commission proposed to add QPs and knowledgeable employees to the QEP and QEC definitions.\(^3^{4}\) and by the Revision the Commission has included QPs and knowledgeable employees in the qualified eligible person definition. As the Commission stated in the Proposing Release:

The Commission intends to follow interpretations issued by the SEC and its staff of the QP and knowledgeable employee definitions. The Commission has the right further to interpret or to amend Rule 4.7 to exclude from the [qualified eligible person definition] any person that the SEC or its staff found to be a QP or knowledgeable employee or to include in the [qualified eligible person definition] any person the SEC or its staff excluded from the QP or knowledgeable employee definition, if such action is found to be necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Act and the Commission’s regulations. The Commission expects that it would exercise this right infrequently.\(^3^{5}\)

In particular, the Commission noted that in April of 1999, staff of the SEC’s Division of Investment Management responded to a series of inquiries from the Subcommittee on Private Investment Entities of the Federal Regulation of Securities Committee, Section of Business Law of the American Bar Association concerning the scope of both the qualified purchaser and knowledgeable employee definitions.\(^3^{6}\) As stated in the SEC staff’s letter:

Whether an employee actively participates in the investment activities of a Fund is a factual determination that must be made on a case-by-case basis by the Fund. Nevertheless, as a general matter, with the possible exception of some research analysts (e.g., a research analyst who researches all potential portfolio investments and provides recommendations to the portfolio manager), we believe that the types of employees described ... [i.e., certain marketing and investor relations professionals, research analysts, attorneys, brokers, traders and financial, compliance, operational and accounting officers of a fund] would not qualify as knowledgeable employees under Rule 3c-5.\(^3^{7}\)

IV. Distribution and Derivation Tables

The following distribution table indicates where the provisions of former Rule 4.7 can be found in revised Rule 4.7 and the derivation table indicates where the provisions of revised Rule 4.7 can be found in former Rule 4.7. The derivation table indicates by “---” any provision in the revised rule that is not derived from the former rule (i.e., it is an entirely new provision). To avoid what otherwise would be a lengthy presentation, as appropriate each table groups together certain paragraphs.

V. Technical Revisions to Rules 30.6(b), 140.99(i)(A) and 180.3(b)(2)

A. Rule 30.6(b)

Part 30 of the Commission’s rules governs the offer and sale of foreign futures and foreign options contracts to persons located in the United States. Rule 30.6 sets forth the disclosure requirements that apply to domestic and foreign persons who are registered or required to be registered under Part 30 or who have obtained an exemption from such registration under Rule 30.5. Specifically, Rule 30.6(b) sets forth those requirements with respect to CPOs and CTAs, differentiating between disclosure applicable in the context of participants and clients, respectively, who meet the requirements of Rule 4.7 (Rule 30.6(b)(1)) and those who do not (Rule 30.6(b)(2)).

As discussed above, under the Revision persons who formerly were termed “qualified eligible participants” or “qualified eligible clients” are now all termed “qualified eligible persons” and the provisions of Rule 4.7 have been reorganized. The Commission accordingly has conformed the nomenclature of Rule 30.6(b) to that of revised Rule 4.7.

B. Rule 140.99(i)(A)

Rule 140.99 governs requests for exemptive, no-action and interpretative letters. Among other things, it sets forth the procedures that an applicant must follow in making a request for a letter. Paragraph (i)(A) makes clear that Rule 140.99 does not affect the requirements of, or otherwise applicable to, notice filings required to be made to claim relief from the Act or from a Commission rule—e.g., pursuant to Rule 4.7.

As stated above, all claims for relief under Rule 4.7 are now found in paragraph (d) of the rule. Accordingly, the Commission has revised Rule 140.99(i)(A) such that it similarly refers to Rule 4.7(d).

C. Rule 180.3(b)(2)

Part 180 of the Commission’s rules governs arbitration or other dispute settlement procedures. Rule 180.3(b)(2) concerns the signing of a pre-dispute arbitration agreement and certain endorsement procedures that may be followed by certain persons. The Commission similarly has conformed the nomenclature of Rule 180.3(b)(2)(vi) so that it now refers to “A person who is a ‘qualified eligible person’ under §4.7(a) of this chapter.” 38

38 This action is consistent with the Commission’s recent regulatory reform proposals, which, among other things, would provide in new Rule 166.5 for the use of pre-dispute arbitration agreements for certain customer claims and grievances and which “expands the use of the ‘single-signature format’ for Continued
VI. Related Matters

A. Paperwork Reduction Act

Rule 4.7 affects information collection requirements. As required by the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, the Commission has submitted a copy of this Rule 4.7 to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for its review. The Commission did not receive any comments on any potential paperwork burden associated with the Proposal.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act ("RFA") requires each federal agency to consider the impact of proposed rules on small entities. The Commission previously has established certain definitions of "small entities" to be used by the Commission in evaluating the impact of its rules on such small entities in accordance with the RFA. The Commission has determined that registered CPOs are not small entities for the purposes of the RFA. With respect to CTAs, the Commission has stated that it would evaluate within the context of a particular rule proposal whether all or some affected CTAs should be considered to be small entities and, if so, that it would analyze the economic impact on them of any rule.

Rule 4.7 reduces the regulatory burdens on registered CPOs and CTAs by providing exemptive relief from the disclosure, reporting and recordkeeping requirements that are otherwise applicable to these registrants. As revised, Rule 4.7 makes this relief available to more CPOs and CTAs and under more situations. This expanded relief, moreover, is available to all CPOs and CTAs, regardless of size.

C. Administrative Procedure Act

The Administrative Procedure Act provides that the required publication of a substantive rule shall be made not less than 30 days before its effective date, but provides an exception for “a substantive rule which grants or recognizes an exemption or relieves a restriction.” Rule 4.7 makes available an exemption from certain Part 4 requirements for CPOs who operate commodity pools consisting of qualified eligible persons and for CTAs who direct or guide the commodity interest trading accounts of qualified eligible persons. Accordingly, the Commission has determined to make the proposed amendments to Rule 4.7 effective immediately.

(B) A Statement of Income (Loss) for that year; and

(C) Appropriate footnote disclosure and any other material information.

(ii) Such annual report must be presented and computed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles consistently applied and, if certified by an independent public accountant, so certified in accordance with § 4.22(h).

(iii) Legend. (A) If a claim for exemption has been made pursuant to this section, the commodity pool operator must make a statement to that effect on the cover page of each annual report.

(B) If the annual report is not certified in accordance with § 4.16, the pool operator must make a statement to that effect on the cover page of each annual report and state that a certified audit will be provided upon the request of the holders of a majority of the units of participation in the pool who are unaffiliated with the commodity pool operator.

(1) Disclosure relief. (i) Exemption from the specific requirements of §§ 4.31, 4.34, 4.35 and 4.36; Provided, That if the commodity trading advisor delivers a brochure or other disclosure statement to such qualified eligible persons, such brochure or statement shall include all additional disclosures necessary to make the information contained therein, in the context in which it is furnished, not misleading; and that the following statement is prominently displayed on the cover page of the brochure or statement or, if none is provided, immediately above the signature line of the agreement that the client must execute before it opens an account with the commodity trading advisor:
“Pursuant to an exemption from the Commodity Futures Trading Commission in connection with accounts of qualified eligible persons, this brochure or account document is not required to be, and has not been, filed with the Commission. The Commodity Futures Trading Commission does not pass upon the merits of participating in a trading program or upon the adequacy or accuracy of commodity trading advisor disclosure. Consequently, the Commodity Futures Trading Commission has not reviewed or approved this trading program or this brochure or account document.”
