commenter_subject: Swap dealers hedge exemption

COMMENT

commenter_frdate: June 16 2009

commenter_frpage: 17 CFR Part 150 commenter_comments: Once again the big speculators and funds are circumventing the spec position limits to manipulate the oil market. These speculators and thier swap dealers are not oil producers nor energy end users and should not be exempt from from spec limits.

If the CFTC allows this to happen all over again then the loss of my 35 employee's jobs will be on your hands. My business will not survive another 2007-2008.

JB Morgan today said they expect $50B in cash to be deployed into commodities this year, how can any one invest that much and stay within spec limits?
