Re: OCX.BETS® Account number field change

Effective Date: December 22, 2011

In an ongoing effort to improve the performance of OCX.BETS® and alleviate the opportunity for user error resulting in Failed trades, OneChicago will begin populating a default futures account when the futures account field is left blank by the user and a trade occurs.

To accommodate for this expansion, OneChicago has updated OCX.BETS® to enter "nullACCT" in the Bkcp Account (Futures) field anytime the user fails to populate the Bkcp Account field prior to a trade.

Firms are required to designate account mnemonics on all orders. OneChicago's actions do not remove or change the user's obligations under the rules to provide account mnemonics on all orders.

OneChicago Compliance Department will follow up with the firm each time an account number is populated by OneChicago.

Once a trade occurs that has had the Bkcp Account field populated, by OCX.BETS, with the default account "nullACCT" it will be the clearing firm's responsibility to amend the trade.

Any questions regarding OCX.BETS should be directed to OneChicago operations team at 312.424.8507, or operations@onechicago.com
