Rule 505. See Attachment B.

DESCRIPTION

(1) BGC Derivative Markets, L.P. (“BGCDMLP”) is filing this rule amendment by adding language to its “BGC Derivative Markets, L.P. Contract Specifications” (“Contract Specifications”) to indicate the Interest Rate Swaps and Credit Default Swaps that are subject to the trade execution requirement of section 2(h)(8) of the CEA.

(2) The Rule amendments provide that persons entering into pre-discussed trades or cross trades in the specified Interest Rate Swaps and Credit Default Swaps, pursuant to BGC SEF Rule 505, must wait at least 5 seconds after the Initial Order is submitted to the Trading System or BGC Broker before submitting the opposite side. As described herein, BGC SEF believes that, given the increased liquidity as discussed infra of the se particular swaps described in the rule filing ~~tenors~~, the 5-second time frame is appropriate.

(3) Amendments to Rule 505, which applies to Pre-execution Discussions and Cross Trades, were certified to the Commission on Nov. 1, 2013. For the avoidance of doubt, BGCDMLP is re-certifying Rule 505 without change.

Pursuant to Commission Rule 40.6(a)(7)(vi), the following is a concise explanation and analysis of the operation, purpose, and effect of the amended rules.

Accordingly, BGC Derivative Markets, L.P. (“BGCDMLP”) is amending its rules by amending “BGC Derivative Markets, L.P. Contract Specifications” to indicate that these Swaps are Made Available to Trade and subject to the trade execution requirement. The implementation dates of the trade execution requirement on BGCDMLP are the same dates on which the Commission’s phased mandate become effective, February 15, 2014, February 21, 2014, and February 26, 2014, respectively.

In addition, the Rules are amended to provide that persons entering into pre-discussed and cross trades for the specified Made Available to Trade contracts, pursuant to BGCDMLP Rule 505, must wait at least 5 seconds after the Initial Order is submitted to the Trading System or BGC Broker before submitting the opposite side. This provision is consistent with BGCDMLP Rule 505(a)(ii) which contemplates that the Facility may publish from time to time specified waiting times for particular contracts. As discussed below, it is also consistent with Commission Rule 37.9(b)(2), which permits a SEF to adjust the time delay based upon liquidity considerations.

Liquidity Demonstration

Commission Rule 37.9(b)(2) permits a SEF to adjust the time period of the 15 second delay based upon a swap's liquidity. BGCDMLP believes that the 5-second time frame is appropriate for these specific Swaps because, as they will be subject to the trade execution requirement, they will be traded through a confluence of voice originated orders and streaming electronic price feeds. As such, 5 seconds is an appropriate waiting time given the resultant high volumes, increased speed of price changes, tighter bid/offer spreads and the ease of electronic order book interaction with exposed orders.

The Made Available to Trade designations are on Benchmark swaps of the most liquid tenors for Interest Rate Swaps and on the most recent series for Credit Default Swap Indices. These “on-the-run” instruments attract Swap Dealer interest from hedging and market making and act as visible markers for yield and credit curve building analytics for all Participants. The additional electronic liquidity catalyzed by the Trade Execution Mandate in these Swaps creates a liquidity equivalence to Interest Rate Futures due to comparatively large sizes of SEF based orders, and more liquidity in Credit Indices than any existing futures product.

When comparing Interest Rate Swaps to Interest Rate Futures, Bid/Offer spreads in MAT swaps are composed of individual orders of mostly more than 10 times the size of equivalent or related futures contracts. As such, tradable sizes in the interest rate swaps market give the market depth over more tenors than futures accommodate. In Credit Default Swaps markets, there are no comparably liquid futures contracts. Accordingly, all of the liquidity in trading Credit Default Swaps on centralized markets will be concentrated in trading on the SEFs and DCMs where listed.

This change will only apply to the ~~specified~~ contracts specified in the rule amendment. It should be noted that a five second delay is common among futures designated contract markets.

BGCDMLP certified amendments to Rule 505 on November 1, 2013.⁴ (See BGCDMLP 2013-02). In response to a letter dated January 28, 2014 from Vincent McGonagle, Director of the Division of Market Oversight, and for the avoidance of doubt, BGCDMLP is certifying BGCDMLP Rule 505 anew. The language of Rule 505 as submitted herein for certification under Commission Rule 40.6 is unchanged from the amended language submitted for certification on November 1, 2013. As submitted for certification on November 1, 2013 and as hereby resubmitted for certification, Rule 505 provides that the Person entering the initial Order of a pre-discussed or cross trade into the Trading System or SEF employee broker wait 15 seconds (or such other time as the Facility may publish from time to time for particular contracts)

before submitting the opposite order to the trading system or SEF employee broker. As noted above, the BGCDMLP is also certifying an adjustment to the 15 second waiting period to 5 seconds for specified contracts, as permitted under Commission Rule 37.9(b)(2).
