

August 5, 2008

Mr. David Stawick
Office of the Secretariat
Commodity Futures Trading Commission
Three Lafayette Centre
1155 21st Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20581

RE: New Strike Price Bands – CBOT Agricultural Products CBOT Submission # 08-115

Dear Mr. Stawick:

The Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. ("CBOT" or "Exchange") hereby notifies the Commission that it has amended CBOT Rules 10A01.E, 11A01.E, 12A01.E, 13A01.E, 14A01.E, 15A01.E, and 17A01.E with regards to strike price bands and dynamic strike price functionality. The text of the rule amendments are attached, with additions underlined and deletions overstruck.

The Exchange certifies that the rule changes comply with the Act and regulations thereunder.

If you require any additional information regarding this action, please do not hesitate to contact David Lehman at 312-930-1875 or via e-mail at David.Lehman@cmegroup.com; Fred Seamon at 312-634-1587 or via e-mail at Fred.Seamon@cmegroup.com; or me. Please reference our CBOT Submission #08-115 in any related correspondence.

Sincerely,

/s/ Stephen M. Szarmack
Director and Associate General Counsel

CC:

6965

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 2 of 8

Text of Rule Amendments

(Additions are underlined, deletions are bracketed and overstruck.)

Chapter 10A Options on Corn Futures

10A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices in integral multiples of five (5) cents and ten (10) cents per bushel per Corn futures contract as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Corn futures contract. The referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 10 without remainder to determine the reference number of 10 cent strikes. The referencing price shall be multiplied by 25 percent and divided by 5 without remainder to determine the reference number of 5 cent strikes.

- a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Corn futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 10 cent strikes in integral multiples of ten cents [in a range 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
 - b. Over time, new ten cent strikes will be added to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of 10 cent strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.

2.

- a. At the commencement of trading for options that are traded in months in which Corn futures are not traded, and for standard option months the business day they become the second listed month, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Corn futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 5 cent strikes in integral multiples of five cents [in a range of 25 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two. For example, five-cent strike price intervals for the September contract would be added on the first business day after the expiration of the July options contract.
- b. Over time, new five-cent strike prices will be added to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of 5 cent strikes above and below [25 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures are listed.

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 3 of 8

3. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As new reference numbers of 5 and 10 cent strikes are determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Chapter 11A Options on Soybean Futures

11A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices in integral multiples of ten (10) cents and twenty (20) cents per bushel per Soybean futures contract as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Soybean futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 20 without remainder to determine the reference number of 20 cent strikes. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 25 percent and divided by 10 without remainder to determine the reference number of 10 cent strikes.

- 1.
- a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Soybean futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 20 cent strikes in integral multiples of twenty cents [in a range of 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
- b. Over time, new twenty cent strikes will be added to ensure that all strikes within the-number of 20 cent strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.
- 2.
- a. At the commencement of trading for options that are traded in months in which Soybean futures are not traded, and for standard option months the business day they become the second listed month, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Soybean futures contract (the at-themoney strike), and the reference number of 10 cent strikes in integral multiples of ten cents [in a range 25 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two. For example, ten-cent strike price intervals for the

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 4 of 8

September contract would be added on the first business day after the expiration of the July options contract.

- b. Over time, new ten-cent strike prices will be added to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of 10 cent strikes above and below [25 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures are listed.
- 3. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As new reference numbers of 10 and 20 cent strikes are determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Chapter 14A Options on Wheat Futures

14A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices in integral multiples of five (5) cents and ten (10) cents per bushel per Wheat futures contract as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Wheat futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 10 without remainder to determine the reference number of 10 cent strikes. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 25 percent and divided by 5 without remainder to determine the reference number of 5 cent strikes.

- a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Wheat futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 10 cent strikes in integral multiples of ten cents [in a range of 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
 - b. Over time, new ten cent strikes will be added to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of 10 cent strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.
- a. At the commencement of trading for options that are traded in months in which Wheat futures are not traded, and for standard option months the business day they become the second listed month, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Wheat futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 5 cent strikes in integral multiples of five cents [in a range 25 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two. For example, five-cent strike price intervals for the September contract would be added on the first business day after the expiration of the July options contract.

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 5 of 8

- b. Over time, new five-cent strike prices will be added to ensure that all strikes within the-reference number of 5 cent strikes above and below [25 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures are listed.
- 3. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As new reference numbers of 5 and 10 cent strikes are determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Chapter 12A Options on Soybean Oil Futures

12A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices (the "strikes") in integral multiples of one half cent per pound per Soybean Oil futures contract [(the "first tier"), and in integral multiples of one cent per pound (in even penny increments) per Soybean Oil futures contract (the "second tier")] as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Soybean Oil futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by .5 without remainder to determine the reference number of one half cent strikes.

1. a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Soybean Oil futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of one half cent strikes [in a range 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 6 of 8

- b. Over time, strikes shall be added as necessary to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of one half cent strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.
- 2. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As a new reference number of one half cent strikes is determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Chapter 13A Options on Soybean Meal Futures

13A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices (the "strikes") in integral multiples of five (5) dollars per ton per Soybean Meal futures contract for all strikes less than two hundred dollars and in integral multiples of ten (10) dollars per ton per Soybean Meal futures contract for all strikes greater than or equal to two hundred dollars as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Soybean Meal futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 10 without remainder to determine the reference number of strikes.

- 1.
- a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Soybean Meal futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of strikes [in a range 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
- b. Over time, strikes shall be added as necessary to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures are listed.
- 2. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As a new reference number of strikes is determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 7 of 8

Chapter 15A Options on Oat Futures

15A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices in integral multiples of five (5) cents and ten (10) cents per bushel per Oat futures contract as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Oat futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 10 without remainder to determine the reference number of 10 cent strikes. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 25 percent and divided by 5 without remainder to determine the reference number of 5 cent strikes.

- a. At the commencement of trading for [any] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Oat futures contract (the at-the-money strike, and the reference number of 10 cent strikes in integral multiples of ten cents [in a range 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
 - b. Over time, new ten cent strikes will be added to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of 10 cent strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.
- a. At the commencement of trading for options that are traded in months in which Oat futures are not traded, and for standard option months the business day they become the second listed month, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Oat futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of 5 cent strikes in integral multiples of five cents [in a range of 25 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two. For example, five-cent strike price intervals for the September contract would be added on the first business day after the expiration of the July options contract.

Mr. David Stawick August 5, 2008 Page 8 of 8

3. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As new reference numbers of 5 and 10 cent strikes are determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.

Chapter 17A Options on Rough Rice Futures

17A01.E. Exercise Prices

Trading shall be conducted for put and call options with striking prices in integral multiples of twenty (20) cents per hundredweight per Rough Rice futures contract as follows:

A referencing price shall be determined each quarter on the first business day in March, July, September, and December and shall equal the daily settlement price of the nearest expiring Rough Rice futures contract. The chosen referencing price shall be multiplied by 50 percent and divided by 0.20 without remainder to determine the reference number of 20 cent strikes.

- a. At the commencement of trading for [an] each option contract, the Exchange shall list a strike closest to the previous day's settlement price of the underlying Rough Rice futures contract (the at-the-money strike), and the reference number of strikes [in a range of 50 percent] above and below the at-the-money strike. If the previous day's settlement price is midway between two strikes, the at-the-money strike shall be the larger of the two.
- b. Over time, strikes shall be added as necessary to ensure that all strikes within the reference number of strikes above and below [50 percent of] the previous day's settlement price in the underlying futures contract are listed.
- 2. All strikes will be listed prior to the opening of trading on the following business day. Upon demand and at the discretion of the Exchange, new out-of-current-range strike prices at regularly defined intervals may be added for trading on as soon as possible basis. The Exchange may modify the procedures for the introduction of strikes as it deems appropriate in order to respond to market conditions. [The Exchange will not generally consider new strike prices beyond the strike bands described above.] As a new reference number of strikes is determined each quarter, existing strikes outside the newly determined strike ranges without open interest may be de-listed.